

The Grosvenor Garden Centre - January 24th 2010

Well, they got it all wrong again!

“Dry but cloudy weather, moving east from N. Ireland.”

Nothing like it!

Fortunately however, the rain did little to put riders off from going to the Eureka.

It was another ‘out to the door’ queue for the counter.

Ted moved out with about sixteen followers into a wet cold morning to lead via an interestingly new route to Bretton - where we stopped for ‘stand up’ 11’s.

Here waterproofs were removed for a short while after a parade by Barbara in the latest fashion in bright Dutch capes.

John had chosen a far more sombre model.

We went on then to The Grosvenor Garden Centre where Ted had pre-booked our table with Jason, the 'Party and Table manager'. He proved to be 'on his lunch break' when we arrived, but the table was laid ready for us.

So, apart from a shortage of plates, cutlery and tea bags, lunch went without a hitch.

Back out into the pouring rain again, we splashed our way back to the Eureka via The Roodee and the Dee river bank into a freshening N.W wind.

Thanks Ted for a well-planned and organised day's ride.
