

Hawarden Farm Shop - 18th March 2012

Not only was it Mothering Sunday, but it was Barbara's birthday as well!

So, on a beautiful spring morning, Janet, heavy with cold, led 16 of us away from a busy Eureka café, where even those of us who had arrived early, had to stand outside to eat and drink.

Via a meticulously planned route we arrived at Westminster Park for 11ses. Again, a 'stand up' affair outside the café.

Stand-up elevenses

There was a pre-arranged alternative route to lunch. Some of those who took the Mountain Road option, latter admitted to 'suffering a bit', whilst those on the lower route succumbed to broken glass induced punctures, around the Broughton cycleway

We had a reserved table for what was obviously an expected extended lunch.

But we were away well before 2.00pm, even after tackling huge 'doorstep' sandwiches and oversized scones with jam and cream. Well, it was Mothering Sunday.

Bob and a doorstep sandwich (and chips!)

Jill and a delicious scone

...and the sandwich eaters outside

The group split after lunch for the ride home: some wishing to avoid the increasing wind and to be home early for that 'special tea'.

Thanks Janet. Hope your cold soon leaves you. It could be that someone else has it now!

Bob Witton.

Click here to see the route: <http://goo.gl/qkzQd>