

The Cottage Loaf, Thurstaston - 10th January 2018

The ride was overshadowed by a serious incident involving a collision between a car and one of our riders - Roy Sheriff - as he approached the Two Mills junction. The latest news I have of Roy is from someone who visited him on Saturday who says:

"For the first time to-day Roy has been sitting in a chair. He is in great pain and on a morphine drip and wearing a neck brace. Damaged vertebrae is in his neck. He has been told prognosis is good. Right leg one end to the other is very bruised. He is having physio and the right side of his head is bruised, with the shape of his helmet imprinted."

There was a good attendance for the ride with some twenty-four riders doing the main ride with Colin, and another small group doing a longer ride to Cafe Fresh with Brian L.

Colin split the group into two - he led the first group and I took the second. At Storeton, Colin took his group down Landican Lane, but my group decided they would rather go down Station Road to Barnston avoiding the potential mud.

At the Cottage Loaf we met up with a number of riders who had made their own way there where we all enjoyed a good lunch. Many people made their own way home afterwards, whilst the remainder rode through Heswall and Neston to Nets for more refreshments before making their own way home.

I have included a flyby visualisation again although nothing really interesting this week.
